DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation.

With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

IN APRIL.

In the sweet sequestered silence of the greenwood glade,
Sitting in the shadow that the spreading pines have made,
I am listening, idly dreaming, through the golden hours of day
To the witching voice of springtime with her promises of May.

Where the rippling waters of the brooklet clear and sweet
Murmur fairy music as they flow just at my feet,
Tune thy soul to hear it, for 'tis of higher birth,
Spirit unto spirit come the dearest things of earth.

Where arbutus hails its modest bloom of dainty hue
And patriot hepatica, with flowers red, white and blue,
List their spirit voices, "We have not come to stay,
But just to bring a promise that will be fulfilled in May."
—Rose Van B. Speece in Scranton Tribune.

The Plot That Failed

Showing How the Plan of a Novel May Be Too Intricate.

I.

We fellows had missed Dick's cheerful face a good deal from the Levity club of late, and the idea took possession of us that he must be ill or in love. As his especial friend I was commissioned to investigate. To this end I called upon him at his chambers in the Temple.

I knocked, but received no reply, so I pushed open the door and entered.

I expected to find the room empty; but, to my surprise, right before me as I entered sat Dick Graham at a writing table which was strewn with manuscripts and odd scraps of paper.

"Dick, old chap," said I, stepping forward to his desk and laying my hand upon his shoulder, "what's up? Turned deaf all of a sudden?"

"Good heavens!" he cried. "I—I—you gave me a fright, Harold. I didn't know any one was in the room."

"I beg your pardon," I replied. "But I knocked several times, and as I received no invitation to come in I entered."

"The fact is"—he began apologetically, with a glance at his desk.

"Yes, yes," I interrupted, "I see—your confounded old yarns. Well, you've simply got to turn them up for a spell. Now, come."

"I would," replied Dick, "were I engaged upon any ordinary story, but this one I am working at now is my masterpiece."

"H'm!" I coughed slightly.

"Really," said Dick, "I'm in earnest this time. Look here, I've just conceived the idea for a plot which when worked into a story will startle the world with its brilliancy. Just have a squint at the outline. Perhaps a suggestion might help me."

Eagerly he raked together about a dozen scraps of paper covered with diagrams and a sheet of paper closely written upon.

"My idea," he began, "is this: Two fellows, named respectively Dick and Harry, are in love with two girls, Lucy and Mabel. Now, Dick loves Lucy, while Harry's affections are centered upon Mabel. Very well. But there is trouble—i. e., Mabel doesn't care a straw about Harry. Her fancy is Dick. And the object of Lucy's tender passion is Harry. D'you see?"

"Yes," rather faintly.

"Well," he continued, "there is to be a masked ball in their town, and my four characters will be present. Dick intends to go as a Chinaman and Harry as Mr. Answers. Mabel is going as Queen Mary and Lucy as Mrs. Kruger. By some means they all get to know what the disguises of the others will be. But at the last moment each couple exchange their dresses, reversing the characters. D'you see?"

"I—I think I grasp it," I muttered between my set teeth.

"Well," continued Dick, "the consequence is that Harry, who was going as Mr. Answers, but who has really gone as a Chinaman, proposes to Lucy, who is made up as Queen Mary, taking her to be Mabel, who as a matter of fact is masquerading as Mrs. Kruger."

A cold sweat was beginning to break out all over me, and I believe I must have worn that same kind of hunted expression which was now increasing on poor Dick's face. He had gathered two or three scraps of paper, and was illustrating the "idea" to me by means of rough sketches of the characters, from one to the other of whom he drew arrows to point his meaning.

"Go on," I said desperately.

"You see," he said, in compliance, "here is an arrow pointing from Dick to Lucy, showing he loves her; here is another from Lucy to Harry, showing she loves Harry." I fairly trembled now, and Graham's hair was assuming a rigid perpendicular. "Then here is a curved line from Harry to Lucy in the diagram, showing them at the ball, which points to the fact"—

"Heavens, man!" I broke out, "drop it, or I'll go mad!"

"Do have a little patience!" he cried excitedly. "It's getting quite simple, I assure you. There are only a few points to clear up, and it'll be as simple as A B C."

He dipped his pen in the ink, and drew another diagram representing the four characters.

"You see by this," he said, pointing to it, "that Dick, who ought to be a Chinaman, is really Mr. Answers; while the girl he—that is, her—and Harry has changed his disguise from Mr. Answers to a Chinaman. Well, Dick loves Lucy—Queen Mary, really—but he takes Mrs. Kruger to be she. See, if"—

"Pardon me, Dick, old fellow," I interrupted. "It may be that I am very dense, but I must confess that I can't follow you."

"That's because you're a fool!" he snapped. "This is the grandest, most novel, simplest and at the same time most intricate plot ever hatched."

"Well, have another try to explain," said I.

II.

Setting his teeth and fixing a steely look upon the papers before him, he commenced:

"Dick loves Lucy, and Harry loves Mabel. Mr. Answers is going to a ball—no, no; Harry will be Mr. Answers, and it is he who will be at the ball with Mrs. Kruger"—

"Haven't you got it a bit mixed?" I ventured timidly.

"Not a bit," he said feverishly. "Let me continue before I lose the thread."

In awe I listened to him as he proceeded:

"They change disguises. Mrs. Kruger and Queen Mary are Mabel and Lucy, only the other way about. The Chinaman proposes to Mrs. Kruger and is accep—I mean, Mr. Answers is"—

He had jumped to his feet and was turning over the diagram feverishly.

"Stop it, man!" I cried. "You'll go off your head!"

"Mrs. Kruger and Queen Mary went to a masked ball," I heard him mutter.

Once again I besought him to desist.

"If the fancy ball—that is, suppose Mrs. Kruger were a Chinam—no, no"—

He was fairly dancing about now with excitement and, bad sign, had started to work the thing out on his finger tips.

I waited for no more.

Without delay I dashed off to the Levity and fetched half a dozen friends. We arrived at Dick's chambers.

The poor fellow was sitting quietly on the floor, surrounded by manuscripts and sheets of paper bearing diagrams.

"If Mrs. Kruger were to meet Mr. Answers at the carnival, would Lucy be engaged to a Chinaman or to Queen Mary?" he was muttering. "Suppose Queen Mary were Mrs. Kruger—impossible! Then Mr. Answers must be a Chinaman, and I know he isn't. Suppose a Chinaman married a fancy dress ball! Who proposed to Mrs. Kruger?"

We stole away as softly as we had come, a scared look on our faces.

A week later poor old Dick Graham was safe in Bedlam.

From a scrap of paper I found in Dick's rooms I have copied the most concise description of the plot he ever wrote. Here it is:

"Dick is in love with Lucy and Harry with Mabel. But Lucy loves Harry, and Mabel loves Dick. They are all going to a masked ball and know each other's intended disguise beforehand. Dick intends to go as a Chinaman and Harry as Mr. Answers; Mabel is going as Queen Mary and Lucy as Mrs. Kruger. But at the last moment each couple change over disguises. Of course at the ball Harry proposes to"—

Here the writing breaks off. The attempt to work it out drove Dick Graham mad, and I defy any one else to do it without the same result.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Never Noticed It.

A traveler in Corsica says that, although Porto Vecchio is so filthy that one would like to dip it in the Mediterranean for a thorough wash, it is wonderfully lovely at a distance. Its white granite houses with red tiled roofs and fragments of old walls, with the blue sky above and the green knoll beneath and about, make up as alluring a southern picture as ever haunted a northerner's memory. But do the southerners themselves appreciate it? If one may judge by comparison, apparently not. Says a writer in Travel:

They do not seem a deeply intelligent folk on this east coast. I stopped in a very hot part of the road to ask a man the name of a certain noble mountain peak inland, with veins of snow upon it.

"I do not know," said he heavily.

"Ah, then you do not live here?"

"Yes, I am of these parts."

"But you were not brought up here?"

"Yes, I was born here."

"And you do not know the name of that very high mountain?"

"I know nothing about it."

He spoke conclusively. The most conspicuous object in his daily landscape had, in his eyes, no significance whatever.

Death and Snuff.

A certain Margaret Wilson of Westminster, who was an inveterate snuff taker, enjoined that a quantity of Scotch snuff should be placed in her coffin. She also ordered that the arrangements connected with her funeral should be as follows: "Six men to be my bearers who are known to be the greatest snuff takers in the parish of St. James, Westminster. Instead of mourning, each to wear a snuff colored beaver hat, which I desire may be bought for the purpose and given to them. Six maidens of my old acquaintance to bear my pall, each to carry a box filled with the best Scotch snuff, to take for their refreshment as they go along." Snuff was also to be thrown on the threshold of deceased's dwelling before the cortege passed out, snuff was to be strewn on the ground at every 20 yards in advance of the coffin, and the officiating clergyman's fee was to be proportionate to the quantity of snuff he consumed during the ceremony.—Household Words.

A House of Bulrushes.

The first place of worship in Western Australia was quite unique both from its frail form of construction and also the several purposes to which it was devoted. This remarkable building was made at Perth, then merely a town site, by soldiers of the Second company, Sixty-third regiment, shortly after the detachment arrived at the colony in 1829, and was composed almost entirely of bulrushes. In addition to this rude little edifice being used on Sundays for divine worship, it sometimes served as an amateur theater during the week, and was used during the whole time as a barracks.

How Foxes Get Rid of Fleas.

By an old hunter and naturalist of local repute a story has been told here confirming as absolutely true and trustworthy the published account, which has had few believers until now, of how foxes rid themselves of fleas. The fox, according to the book narrative, simply backs slowly into a stream of water with a portion of the pelt of a rabbit in his mouth after the fox has made a meal off the rabbit. The water drives the fleas first up the fox's legs and then toward his head and finally out on the piece of rabbit fur, and then the fox drops the fur, and his pests are done for.

The local hunter and naturalist referred to, strange to say, had never heard or read this story when he told of the actions of the fox which he observed in the waters of the Patapsco river. The little animal, he stated, backed into the river slowly with so much deliberation that he wondered what it meant. It carried something—he did not know what—in its mouth and dropped the something when out in deep water. Then the fox hurried away. The object left floated near to the observer, and he hauled it ashore with a stick. Fleas literally swarmed through the object, which was found to be a bit of raw rabbit fur. The observer had a puzzling mystery explained to him. He says his admiration for the shrewdness of the fox grows more and more as he grows older and learns his ways.—Baltimore Sun.

It Troubled the Customer.

"A funny thing occurred here the other day," said a barber as he was putting the finishing touches on a hair cut. "A fellow came in to be shaved who was somewhat under the influence of intoxicants. He took his place in the chair, and all proceeded well till I had shaved one side of his face, when he stopped me.

"'Hold on,' he cried. 'I want this thing 'splained.'

"I asked him what was the matter, and he replied: 'There's a fly on my cheek, and you have shaved the lather and whiskers off, but the fly didn't move. Now, what's the mazzer with him?'

"I told him there was no fly on him, but he pointed to the mirror and said: 'You think I can't see him. I ain't so drunk that I can't see a fly.'

"I turned to the glass, and there stood the fly on the mirror and in such a position that from my customer's range of vision it seemed to be on his cheek. He afterward said that he had felt that fly tickling him all the time and wondered how I could shave under it and not cut its legs off."—London Tit-Bits.

Wants a Diagram.

"That Fuddlethwait girl makes the flattest remarks of anybody I ever saw. And people laugh at them too. I can't understand it. It must be because she has money."

"What's she been saying now?"

"I was telling her the other evening that my parents had 13 children."

"Yes."

"Well, she looked at me awhile and said, 'Oh, are you the thirteenth?' Then everybody snickered. Now, will you kindly tell me what there was funny about that?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

History's Notorious Fault.

"I must insist," declared Diana, who was the acknowledged leader of the Olympian Woman's Suffrage party, "that the purity of the ballot would be conserved by allowing us to vote."

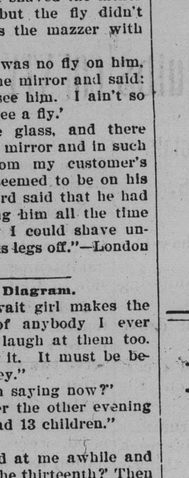
"Nonsense," protested Mercury, leader of the opposition. "You wouldn't be able to control the Muse of History. She's a natural born repeater."—Philadelphia Press.

A Drastic Measure.

A Spanish magistrate, shocked by the extent of the food adulteration, issued a proclamation, aflame with righteous wrath, that "all wines, groceries and provisions which upon analysis are proved to be injurious to health will be confiscated forthwith and distributed to the different charitable institutions."—Woman's Journal.

HEART-SICK.

There are a great many people who have heart sickness, who have no chronic derangement of the heart. When the stomach is diseased it may affect many other organs, and produce all the evidences of diseased heart, diseased liver or kidneys, or disease in some other organ.



The inexperienced practitioner treats the wrong disease, and hence the constant statement of Dr. Pierce's correspondents: "Doctors could not help me."

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It increases the assimilative powers, and purifies and enriches the blood. When diseases of organs remote from the stomach are caused by the stomach, the cure of the stomach results in the cure of the other diseases, in heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc.

"Six years ago my stomach and heart troubled me so much I had to do something, as the doctors could not help me," writes Mrs. S. A. Knapp, of San Jose, California, Box 392. "I went to San Francisco and had treatment for catarrh of the stomach, and was better for some time, then it came back. I then used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' These medicines cured my stomach. I do not have the pain and indigestion as I did. It is very hard for me to tell you what I suffered before I commenced taking your valuable medicine. I recommend it to all the sufferers whom I meet."

To cure constipation use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

MARCUS DALY, the millionaire mine owner and politician of Montana, is dead. For years Daly was a thorn in the side of United States Senator Clark, who will now be enabled to run politics in that State without let or hindrance.

A FARMER down in Santa Clara county got a wife through a marriage bureau. He also got a lawsuit, a divorce, a set of foreclosed mortgages and a baby he knows nothing about and prospects of more things to come. Matrimony on the bureau plan has possibilities of acquisition beyond the expectation of the ordinary venturer.

THE "shootahs" of Healdsburg, C. A. Brumfield and E. Du Prate, who engaged in a bloodless street duel in that city last October, have buried the hatchet and are now the best of friends. That is why the case against the former for assault with a deadly weapon was dismissed the other day in Judge Burnett's court for lack of evidence.

THE Commissioner of Revenue, says a late dispatch from Washington, in reply to an inquiry from New York as to whether "revenue stamps are required upon an assignment of a mortgage executed and delivered subsequent to July 1st, 1898, the mortgage having been received and issued prior to that date and therefore not taxable," has rendered a decision to the effect that "a tax accrued on every assignment of a mortgage based upon the amount of money remaining secured thereby; on a lease based upon the unexpired term; on a policy of life insurance based upon the amount of insurance remaining in force under the assignment; on a fire, marine and casualty insurance policy based upon the unearned premium."

MAN born of woman is of few days and full of promises. He buyeth freely in the store of Lone Tree and sayeth "charge it" and it is charged. On the first day of the next month the collector calleth at his domicile and findeth him out, neither is he in the synagogue nor at the well. He abideth not at the caravansary and no man hath seen him that day. Night cometh on apace and the collector giveth up the chase and wendeth his way home sorrowing. The second day cometh and he who has bought at the market place is seen of all men; he preambulateth the highway and looketh large; yea, he weareth a chrysanthemum in his button hole. He applaudeth his own pride and seemeth to own the earth. The seller in the market place espyeth him from afar and sayeth to his collector, "Behold him who thou sought the whole of yesterday. He that was hid to view hath appeared again. Go thou and seek of him the seven dollars and fifty cents he oweth the master." Straightway the collector calleth and sayeth, "Here is thine account which is due the merchant at the market place, seven fifty, please." And lo! the man sayeth, "Thou cometh too late, O son of a gun; I sought thee on the first day and found thee not; now my purse is empty and I am without a cent." Then the collector lifteth up his voice and weepeth, exclaiming bitterly, "O, Solomon, wisest of all the sages, well hast thou said all men are liars."—Lone Tree Reporter.

More Evidence of Prosperity

Capt. Piltz, who recently arrived in San Francisco from Tacoma, was the guest of Capt. Johnson, the retired sea captain, Sunday. Capt. Piltz, as soon as the news arrived of the re-election of McKinley, let a contract for the building of a four-masted barkentine to the shipbuilding firm of Hall Bros. The ship will cost $75,000 and when completed will be used in the Manila trade, which will develop into a big thing for the shipping interests of the Pacific coast.

THE OBSERVER.

The Dismissal of Dr. Ross.

The aim of the University is Truth. Its field of action is the universe of mind and matter. It has to do with institutions and persons; with the past, present and future; with all forces; with law; with right and wrong; with duty; in brief, with everything that in any way appertains to life. It has been and is to-day a sentinel standing on the mountain top heralding the light. Because of this it receives the support of State and people. (For analogous reasons the Government maintains light-houses on our coasts—that ships may know their way.)

The prime requirement that the people make is that there shall be perfect honesty on the part of the University; that favor shall be shown to none and none shall be feared. The universities of the world have lived up to this requirement and as a consequence they have enjoyed the confidence of a great majority of the intelligent, and we of this State have been particularly proud of our two great universities and have rejoiced and counted ourselves rich because of their fidelity to Truth. Now it seems that our confidence in one of them—Stanford—has been misplaced.

Because Dr. Ross, one of the faculty of Stanford University publicly stated his reasons for believing the admission of cheap coolie labor into our State to be detrimental to our best interests, he has been discharged from the University. This is damnable. It is a denial of free speech. It is a blunt statement to the faculty of Stanford University: You may spend your days in an earnest endeavor to help humanity, to make clear the path of duty, to guide our ship of State safely past the shoals and rocks of error and wrong, but if in so doing you utter a word that will in any way discredit the means by which Stanford, Huntington and Crocker got their wealth—off goes your head.

By establishing the university at Palo Alto Senator and Mrs. Stanford won for themselves the good opinions of all. They succeeded in blotting out many of the unhappy pages of their rise to wealth and power. Now this is undone. The gloomy past is all too plain.

Dr. Ross by hard, persistent and intelligent effort lifted himself to such a large understanding of our complex civilization that he could see and clearly state some of the perils that front us. He warned us of their approach and suggested means of defense. The great pulsing heart of honest manhood thanked and honored him. But those who idly win their bread by sweat of other brows seeing that they would be cut off from their source of ill-gotten gain if his counsel should prevail, refused him liberty to speak and thereby plunged a knife into the public vitals. Whoever did the guilty deed is either a fool or a traitor to Truth and a lover of lies.

The people of El Verano and vicinity are agitating the holding of elections in El Verano in the future. They claim that Agua Caliente is not only an out-of-the-way place but also lacks telegraph communication with the outside world. The change would prove a great convenience for a large majority of the voters in this district.

Mrs. Ellen Blackburn has returned to Petaluma from San Francisco, where she took the examination for embalming. She passed with honor and received her diploma. Prof. Ranourd's class, with whom she took the examination, numbered fifty-two, seven of whom were women.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

THROAT REST

You can cough yourself into bronchitis, pneumonia, and consumption.

Bandaging and bundling your throat will do no good.

You must give your throat and lungs rest and allow the cough wounds to heal.

There is nothing so bad for a cough as coughing. Stop it by using

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Even the cough of early consumption is cured. And, later on, when the disease is firmly fixed, you can bring rest and comfort in every case.

A 25 cent bottle will cure new coughs and colds; the 50 cent size is better for settled coughs of bronchitis and weak lungs; the one dollar size is more economical for chronic cases and consumption. It's the size you should keep on hand.

"All families ought to be on the watch for sudden attacks of croup or acute lung troubles. Every country home in the land should keep Cherry Pectoral constantly on hand to provide against an emergency."

The Light of the World or Our Saviour in Art.

Cost nearly $100,000 to produce. Contains nearly 100 full-page engravings of our Saviour and His Mother by the world's greatest painters. True copies of the greatest Masterpieces in the art galleries of Europe. Every picture is as beautiful as a sunrise over the hilltops. Contains description of the paintings, biography of the painters, the names and locations of the galleries in Europe where the originals may be seen. Also contains a Child's Department, including a Child's Story of the Christ and His Mother, beautifully written, to fit each picture. This wonderful book, matchless in its purity and beauty, appeals to every mother's heart, and in every Christian home where there are children the book sells itself. Christian men and women are making money rapidly taking orders. A Christian man or woman can in this community soon make $1,000 taking orders for Christmas presents. Mrs. Waite, our agent in Massachusetts, has sold over $3,000 worth of the books in a very short time. The book is printed on velvet-finished paper, beautifully bound in Cardinal Red and Gold, and adorned with Golden Roses and Lilies. It is, without doubt, the most beautiful book of this century. Write for terms quickly and get the management of that territory. You can work on salary or commission, and when you prove your success we will promote you to the position of Manager and Correspondent, at a permanent salary, to devote your time to attending to agents and the correspondence. Wanted also a State Manager to have charge of office in Leading City of the State and manage all the business of the State. Send for terms. Address—

FOR MALARIA, CHILLS AND FEVER.

The Best Prescription Is Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The Formula Is Plainly Printed on Every Bottle, So That the People May Know Just What They Are Taking.

Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called "Tasteless" chill tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.

ELECTION EXPENSES.

What it Costs to Run for Supervisor.

T. C. Putnam and Blair Hart, candidates for Supervisor of Sonoma and Vallejo townships, have filed with the County Clerk a statement of their expenses in the late election.

Blair Hart's itemized statement shows that he expended $79.50.

T. C. Putnam certifies that he expended $92.

An Insane Tramp.

A wandering demented vagabond, about 25 years of age, has been annoying the farmers on the line of the California Northwestern Railway between San Rafael and Glen Ellen the past three months. When overtaken by the pangs of hunger he visits a farm house and demands food. If freely given him he departs in a quiet way and proceeds on his tramp along the railway. If he is refused he becomes exceedingly vicious. The man is undoubtedly insane and dangerous to be at large. Officer Ohm is on the man's track and will no doubt effect his capture.

In Full Bloom.

A novel sight can be seen from the road between this place and Napa. It is a cherry orchard in full bloom on A. D. Lowell's farm. A number of pear and prune trees are also in full bloom on J. V. Miner's ranch near Glen Ellen. In short there is hardly an orchard in the valley that does not contain one or more trees in bloom. This is a very unusual sight in Sonoma Valley in November and is due to the spring-like weather of the past six weeks. It is not thought that this early blossoming will reduce the fruit crop next season. An old orchardist says the buds are dormant ones—that is to say, they were held back by unfavorable weather last spring—and their blossoming will have no influence whatever on next year's crop.

Peculiar Accident.

Mate Matt Johnson of the steamer Senator, plying between San Francisco and Nome, and well-known in this valley, being a son of Capt. Johnson of Buena Vista, met with a peculiar accident last week. While the vessel was proceeding on her way to San Francisco she encountered heavy seas and one more violent than the others struck the staunch vessel with tremendous force. Mate Johnson, who was off duty, was reclining in his bunk at the time and the shock threw him to the floor. He alighted on his feet, striking a wash-bowl which broke in two, cuting one of his ankles in such a manner that it required nine stitches to close the wound. Upon his arrival in San Francisco he was taken to a hospital which he was enabled to leave a few days ago. The accident will lay him up for several months.

Orchestra Concert.

On Sunday evening, November 25th, Maxwell's Orchestra will play at the Congregational Church for the first time in several months. The improvement in the playing of the orchestra since the last appearance is remarkable, and those who have not heard it since last June will be astonished at the progress that has been made. Should the weather permit it is certain that the church will be crowded to the doors, as every one is anxious to hear the orchestra again.

Back from Ireland.

Rev. Father Quill, pastor of St. Francis' Church, has returned to his field of labor after an absence of seven months in his old home in Ireland. The reverened father's trip has done him a deal of good judging from his rosy and healthy appearance.

Capt. and Mrs. Stofen's Silver Wedding.

Capt. and Mrs. P. N. Stofen celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage at their home on Hyde street, San Francisco, on Friday evening of last week by giving a reception from 8 to 11 P. M. to their relatives and many friends. The house was handsomely decorated. In the hall were hung Oriental lanterns which gave a pretty and brilliant effect to the surroundings and seemed to twinkle and wink a merry welcome to all. An orchestra of string music discoursed sweet strains of music throughout the evening and added much to the entertainment of the guests. Beside the reception hall the large parlors and dining room were beautified with smilax and white chrysanthemums which gave a light and grace to the whole interior.

Capt. and Mrs. Stofen were assisted in receiving by their daughter Miss Meta Stofen and Miss Claire Hope. The early part of the evening was given up to congratulations. Then followed several vocal solos after which dainty refreshments were served in the dining room at tete-a-tete tables which were prettily decorated.

Many beautiful presents of silver were received, although the invitations expressly stated "please omit presents."

Capt. and Mrs. Stofen have gathered around them many friends since going to San Francisco to reside. Many of their guests on this happy occasion were from Santa Rosa, where they lived prior to taking up their residence in the metropolis. These good people are never happier than when extending the hospitality of their home to their friends, and it was heartily expressed by all present on this occasion that for delightful sociability this twenty-fifth anniversary was a most successful one.

An Explosion, Not an Earthquake.

A sharp shock similar to an earthquake was felt in this place last Tuesday morning at 10:04 o'clock. There was a big atmospheric commotion and a vibration of the earth, accompanied with a rattling of doors and windows. Many mistook the visitation for an earthquake. News from Pinole, located on the south side of San Pablo Bay, over fifty miles distant from Sonoma, states that the concussion was caused by the blowing up of a powder house at that place in which three men lost their lives.

Slot Machine Ordinance Repealed.

The City Trustees of Petaluma have repealed the slot machine ordinance and the machines are now running without license. The ordinance was repealed on advice of the City Attorney, who rendered an opinion that it was illegal to license the machines. There are about a dozen nickle-in-the-slot machines in Sonoma and it was the intention of the Trustees to pass an ordinance taxing each machine $10 per month. Owing to the opinion of Petaluma's City Attorney the matter will no doubt be dropped. So will the nickels in the slot machines.

The Hinshaw Estate.

Letters of administration have been petitioned for by Geo. P. McNear and Henry Lawrence on the estate of the late W. P. Hinshaw of Petaluma. The estate consists of 3400 acres of land in Sonoma and Marin counties, valued $100,000; real estate and business blocks in Petaluma valued at $50,000; personal property worth $27,500 and other items, making a total of $178,650. The petitioners say the estate does not exceed $300,000 in value. The deceased left no will. The heirs at law are the widow, brothers—E. C. and A. B. Hinshaw—and several nephews and nieces.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

The birthday party given in honor of Miss Ramona Granice at her home on Tuesday afternoon was a most successful affair. The parlors were profusely decorated with chrysanthemums and roses. Bernice Hocker assisted the young hostess in receiving the guests, who began to arrive as early as 1 o'clock P. M. and for some time after the door bell was kept warm with its ringing. Each little comer carried in her arms a souvenir for the young hostess. After all had arrived the playing of games, interspersed with music, was indulged in, Misses Elizabeth Davis, Elaine Clewe and Emily Poppe presiding at the piano by turns. Then followed the march to the dining room. When the little folks were seated bonbons were distributed and much merriment ensued as the pretty paper caps were brought forth and placed upon the dainty heads of each little guest. Miss Ramona presided at the head of the well-filled table, in the center of which was the birthday cake with six wax candles all ablaze, significant of each year. The young hostess cut the cake and all received an equal share. It was late in the afternoon before the little people took their departure, wishing Ramona many happy birthday anniversaries. Those invited were Elaine Clewe, Elizabeth Davis, Bernice Small, Helen Morris, Marie Clewe, Bernice Hocker, Gladys Small, Emily Poppe, Wilmer Hocker, Florence Green, Lucia Fochetti and baby Joe McMullen.

Services will be held in the Congregational church to-morrow (Sunday) at 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. The discourse in the morning will be on "The Trinity and the Holy Spirit." In the evening "An Account of the Siege of Peking" will be given by the pastor, Rev. C. D. Milliken. There will be special music in the evening. The public are cordially invited.

THE AMENDMENTS.

Only Two of Them Carry in Sonoma County.

There were eight constitutional amendments to be voted for or against at the election held on Tuesday, November 6th. In Sonoma county only two out of the eight were carried. They were the one referring to the primary election law and the one exempting certain of the property of the Stanford University from taxation. A summary of the vote on the amendments was as follows:

Assembly No. 6—Relating to the exemption from taxation of all buildings used solely and exclusively for religious worship, and so much of the real property on which they are situated as may be required for the convenient use and occupation of said buildings: Yes, 2,587; no, 3,322; majority against 735.

Assembly No. 23—Confirming the foundation of the Leland Stanford Junior University, delegating certain powers to the Trustees thereof, and authorizing the exemption of certain of its property from taxation: Yes, 2,706; no, 2,649, majority in favor, 55.

Assembly No. 14—Relating to the exempting from taxation of all property of "The California School of Mechanical Arts:" Yes, 2,313; no, 2,700; majority against 387.

Senate No. 14—Relating to the exemption from taxation of all bonds issued by the State of California, or by any county, town, municipality, municipal corporation of any sort, or district, (including school, reclamation and irrigation districts) within said State: Yes, 1,309; no, 3,364; majority against 1,955.

Senate No. 14—Concerning primary elections: Yes, 2,304; no, 2,024; majority in favor, 280.

Senate No. 9—Relative to the compensation of Supreme and Superior Court judges: Yes, 1,057; no, 3,096; majority against, 2,039.

Senate No. 15—In relation to revenue and taxation: Yes 1,615; no 2,441; majority against, 826.

SUDDEN DEATH OF ARPAD HARASZTHY.

Arpad Haraszthy, the well-known winemaker, was discovered in a dying condition at 1 o'clock this morning on the corner of Washington and Hyde streets, San Francisco, and expired shortly after in the Receiving Hospital.

It is supposed he was seized with an attack of heart disease while on his way to his home. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. A. F. Haraszthy of this place.

Bilge Water.

I am quite well aware that there are objections to hospital ships in the tropics. When they are moored, there is the burning question of bilge water. I will not discourse on the subject of bilge water, as inexperience thereof might make the explanation wearisome. Any one acquainted with the bilge water question knows it is of engrossing interest. Bilge is a prince among smells, and if you have ever fallen under its power you will always think that every terrific thing in smells is a manifestation of bilge water.

I remember on one occasion when on board a moored hulk, not a hospital ship, smelling in the evening something that called for mention, so I mentioned it. "Oh," said my companions, more under the sway of bilge water than I was, from their greater knowledge of its power, "it's only our bilge water." In the morning we found it was the rotting carcass of an elephant that had floated down the river and now hung in the mooring chain.

After a considerable time was spent in getting rid of the carcass I said, "For goodness' sake, gentlemen, stir up your bilge water, and let the smells fight it out together while we go ashore for a spell." "No," said my companions, terror stricken at the suggestion. "You do not know our bilge water when its back's up. It would stretch you if you were half way across Africa. This elephant is mere lavender water to it."

This was a more dreadful bilge water than a hospital ship would have. Still, though bad, bilge water is not necessarily fatal under proper management. —Chambers' Journal.

A Historic Die.

On the desk of the secretary of one of the oldest copper manufacturing firms in this city is a steel die which has served as a paperweight for 35 years, and the coins struck off by it are now, for the most part, in the hands of collectors. This die was used for striking copper tokens which symbolized the contest between President Andrew Jackson and the old United States bank of Philadelphia in 1832. The engraving on the die represents President Jackson, sword in hand and apparently standing in a money chest. Around the central figure is stamped Jackson's expression, "I take the responsibility," which arose out of his controversies with the bank.

When this die was made, the predecessors of the present company not only manufactured copper wire, but also made a special feature of copper coins, chiefly for South American countries and for private business firms which made a practice of issuing their own copper coins to be redeemed by them afterward. During the civil war and just preceding it many private corporations issued tokens which circulated as pennies, and some of them are now worth a great many times their original value to collectors.—New York Sun.

Paid His Debt.

When Joe Chamberlain entered the house of commons, he was anxious to try his oratorical powers. A certain leading politician, who was piloting a bill through the house, was approached by one of Mr. Chamberlain's friends, who said:

"Chamberlain would like to speak on the bill. Can you give him a chance?"

"Well, you know, I think it would not do. He's a new member, and nobody knows what the dickens he might say."

Time went on. Chamberlain gained ground—became a power in parliament. The leading politician, on the contrary, had made a series of blunders which had imperiled his position. An election was imminent. Forgetting his previous record, he thought that if he could get Mr. Chamberlain to speak for him he would strengthen his position. He, therefore, applied to the right honorable gentleman.

The latter calmly surveyed him through his eyeglass and said:

"Well, you know, I think it would not do. I am a new member, and nobody knows what the dickens I might say!"

Chinese Porcelain.

Chinese porcelain was common in Europe for 400 years before a German potter succeeded in finding out the process of making it. This Chinese pottery is scattered all over the world and everywhere valued, but nowhere was the distribution more curious than in western Canada. Early in the nineteenth century a Chinese junk was cast away on the Pacific coast of America just south of Vancouver island, and its cargo of willow pattern plates fell into the hands of the Hudson Bay company's officers. Still in the remotest trading posts of the fur traders a few fine specimens remain.

Little Willie, sitting down to tea with his grandmother, who is just about to cut the cake. Willie (hastily)—Grannie, before you cut my piece of cake I want to ask you a question.

Grannie—Well, dear, what is it?

Willie—I want to know if your spectacles magnify?

Grannie—Yes; a little, dear.

Willie—Well, then, will you please take them off while you cut my cake?

The Theory.

"So he regards himself as a senatorial possibility?" said one politician.

"Undoubtedly," answered the other.

"On what theory?"

"I don't know unless it's the theory that the unexpected always happens."—Washington Star.

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well-known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attacks been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by F. Duhring. *

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder. It cures painful, smarting, nervous feet and ingrowing nails, and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 25c, in stamps. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

To remove a troublesome corn or bunion: First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily; rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days, to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequaled. For sale by F. Duhring. *

A Minister's Mistake.

A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure." This was hardly what he expected and, after a moment's hesitation, he turned it over, and found on the other side the matter intended for the reading.

At Bed Time

I take a pleasant herb drink, the next morning I feel bright and my complexion is better. My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a gentle laxative. His Opinion.

Fiddleback—Are you going around to Miss Muffin's tomorrow night, Mrs. Von Blumer?

Mrs. Von Blumer—She gives a chafing dish party, doesn't she?

Fiddleback—Yes.

Mrs. Von Blumer—We may. Are you?

Fiddleback (smiling)—Well, hardly.

Mrs. Von Blumer—Why, I thought you were fond of Miss Muffin.

Fiddleback—I am, but bet of her chafing dish parties.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You mean—

Fiddleback—I mean the chafing dish part.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You don't like that?

Fiddleback—Well, I can stand a good deal, but the concoctions Miss Muffin gets up in that instrument of torture are too much for me.

Mrs. Von Blumer—You are too hard on her, I am sure.

Fiddleback—Hard on her, do you say! Well, I guess she is pretty hard on the rest of her victims.

Mrs. Von Blumer—What particular dish of hers don't you like?

Fiddleback—Well, I can't say that I am partial to any of them. I've tried them all, and there isn't much choice. Her lobster Newburg can produce about as much complex agony as anything else. But I think for suffering long drawn out, for steady, unintermittent, ablebodied pain, her Welsh rabbit takes the blue ribbon. Have you ever tried Miss Muffin's Welsh rabbit?

Mrs. Von Blumer—Oh, yes, indeed! Why, I have been giving her cooking lessons for the last six months!—Harper's Bazar.

Lord Russell's Dilemma.

Once, when he first came to London and was laying the foundation of his great career, says a London letter, the future Lord Chief Justice Russell went to the pit of a theater. The piece was popular, the pit was crowded and the young advocate had only standing room. All of a sudden a man at his side cried out that his watch was stolen. Mr. Russell and two other men were hemmed in.

"It is one of you three," cried the man minus the watch.

"Well, we had better go out and be searched," said Mr. Russell, with the alertness of mind that did not fail him in a trying moment amid an excited crowd. A detective was at hand, and the suggestion was accepted. As Mr. Russell walked out the idea flashed through his mind that if the man behind him had the stolen property he would probably try to secrete it in the pocket of his front rank man. Quick as thought he drew his coattails about him—only to feel, to his horror, something large and smooth and round already in his pocket.

While he was still wondering what this might mean for him, the detective energetically seized the hindmost man, exclaiming: "What, you rascal! At it again!" To Mr. Russell and the other man he apologized and bade them go free.

But Mr. Russell, before he had taken many steps, reflected that he could not keep the watch. He went back to the box office and explained, with a courage on which he afterward said he rarely experienced greater demands, that though he did not take the watch he had it. So saying, he put his hand into his pocket and pulled out—a forgotten snuffbox.

The Panama Hat.

"The cheapest straw hat to buy," said a man who owns a beauty, "is, after all, a Panama, like this. Look here." He took down his big white hat, which was creased down the middle like a pair of trousers, and rolled it up tight; then he tossed it in the air. With a cracking sound it spread open and fluttered down to the floor in its original shape, deep center crease and all. "You could soak this hat for a week," he continued, "and iron it out flat afterward, but when you came to put it on again it would be just as you see it now.

"Women in Mexico and roundabout all that region make the hats, using straw that has been selected with more care than I could tell you of. The art has been handed down in their families from one generation to another, and it is a secret art, unknown to any other people in the world.

"These women, living so far away from everything, are ignorant of the fashions, and that is why the hats never change their ugly shape. If they were fashionably made, the demand for them would be enormous. As it is, hatters travel through all that country and buy them up at good prices.

"The perfect Panama hat costs at least $30, and if you should pay $50 for a big and unusually light one you would not be getting stuck."—Philadelphia Record.

His Double Fee.

Lawyer Smart—Good morning, Mr. Dull. What can I do for you today?

"I want to get your opinion on a matter of law,"

"Yes."

"My hens got into my neighbor Brown's yard, and he poisoned them. What I want to know is, can I recover damages?"

"Certainly. It was malicious mischief on his part, besides being a destruction of your property."

"Thanks. But hold! I stated that wrong. It was Brown's hens got into my yard, and it was I who administered the poison."

"Ah, yes; I see. That puts a different color upon the transaction, and it is clear that he, in the person of his hens, was the trespasser, whereas in leaving the poison on your premises you were quite unaware that his fowls would eat it. It was purely an accident, so far as you were concerned."

"Thanks. How much?"

"Thirteen and fourpence."

"Why, that's just twice what you asked for a legal opinion the other day."

"I know it, but, you see, I have given you two opinions today."—London Answers.

That Was the Total.

Old Merchant—Before I answer your request for my daughter's hand, permit me to ask what is your yearly income, sir?

Young Officer—All told, it amounts to 800.

Old Merchant—H'm! To that would be added the interest at 4 per cent on the sum of £20,000, that I intend to give my daughter for her dowry.

Young Officer—Well, the fact is, I have taken the liberty of including that in the calculation just submitted. —London Fun.

Read it over to your friends and see how many of them can spell every word correctly. The sentence contains many of the real puzzlers of the spelling book.

"Is God's Good Blessing"

"I feel that God has blessed Dr. Acker with special knowledge to prepare that grand medicine called Acker's English Remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles. It saves children every time when they are attacked by croup. Every mother should know about it, and I will tell about my experience. I had a darling boy of four years to die with croup. My doctor did all he could, but the child could not be made to vomit. That was before I knew of Acker's English Remedy. After I did hear of it, I got a bottle. When our little eighteen-months-old girl was stricken with croup, I gave her this medicine, and inside of twenty minutes she vomited and was better right away. During the winter she had croup four times, and it brought her through each time all right. I, myself, had bronchitis pretty bad, and Acker's English Remedy cured me completely. Before I close, I want to tell you of my neighbor's boy, named Jobe Nana. He had bronchitis, too. He got worse all the time. My husband went over to his house and told him about my case. Then his mother went to town, got a 50-cent bottle of Acker's English Remedy, and he took it. He came over to our house a few days later and said he was all right, and also said two doses relieved him from the start. You can understand by my letter why I think so much of Acker's English Remedy. I repeat that God's blessing must surely have been bestowed upon Dr. Acker."
